July 20, 2018 - by Staff Writer

Marshallton-Area – A group of anti-circumcision protesters has set up camp at the corner of Route 7 and Kirkwood Highway this morning.

Troopers have received a few reports that the group is causing traffic issues. Troopers made contact with the group and determined that they are not breaking any laws, according to radio reports.

It looks like our fellow journalist beat us to this story. We're sure that they will have a great in-depth article regarding this protest in the near future.

All stories involving police come directly from official sources. Any arrested parties are and should be considered innocent until proven guilty in a court of law.
